HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Maldon Court Wishes

and Ethan Bandakpara-Taylor
a Very Happy Birthday

Dear Parents,

In a week of national mourning, our children have conducted themselves with the utmost respect and integrity. It is important for the children to understand the situation but also without being overwhelmed. I believe that we have got the balance just right in school. As per my letter at the weekend, Maldon Court will be closed on Monday as a mark of respect to the Queen. I look forward to seeing you all on Tuesday.

This week, we have really been focusing on our school committees. On Monday, all children that wanted to apply for one of the roles had to have their 'application forms' submitted. Our drive and focus at the moment is for the children to take a real ownership of certain aspects of school life. This is wonderful preparation for life skills when they are older and they have really excelled this week. Our Heads of School had the incredibly tough task of reading through all of the applications and deciding who should be on the committees. They then had to justify their reasoning to both Mrs Bonner and Miss Wayman. The successful candidates were presented with their badges by the children in assembly on Tuesday. Throughout the rest of this week, the committees have had their first meeting and have come up with some fantastic ideas that we will introduce over the forthcoming weeks. The children have had to request meetings with myself to put forward their ideas and it has been wonderful to see such enthusiasm with their new initiatives.

This week, I have started the Heads of School Lunches. The children came into my office and we had a lovely lunch discussing their start to Form 6 and all of the exciting plans that we have over the next year. The children are always so polite and I love spending this special time with them. Over the coming year, children in all classes will have the opportunity to come and have lunch with me. It is a lovely opportunity and one the children really look forward to.

Finally, I would like to wish all Form 6 children good luck in their 11+ examination on Saturday. I am proud of them all for their hard work and determination. I wish them every success.

HEADTEACHER'S AWARD - Congratulations to James Hull who won the Headteacher Award this week for his determination and resilience in all of his subjects. Well done, James. Congratulations to Madison Lopez who was awarded a Cool to be Kind award.

NURSERY - This week, Nursery have enjoyed the topic All About Me. We have been discussing our favourite activities and past times and have learnt a lot about each of the children. Nursery also enjoyed some gardening this week. We have planted some bulbs to put in our outside classroom. The children were very good at filling up the planter with soil. We then discussed the bulbs, we have planted snow drops, daffodils and tulips. The children then took turns to push the bulbs into the soil. The children will tend to the bulbs over the autumn term and then watch in the new year as the bulbs begin to bloom. Next week our topic is Nursery Rhymes, for optional homework please create a picture at home that represents your favourite nursery rhyme.

FORM 1 - This week in Art Form 1 have been focusing on our primary colours, red, yellow and blue. We looked at some of Piet Mondrian's artwork and then put our creative hats on. The children were then all given the task with just four paint colours to try and replicate his art. As you can see from the photos, the children had such a fun afternoon and the outcomes were fantastic! Well done Form 1, you are all born artists in the making.

THE BOOK NOOK - Our new Book Nook has proven a huge success. This is a wonderful space, created in the school grounds, for our children to spend some time at break or lunchtime, quietly reading. We are especially proud of this space as it was built in response to the children's requests, via the school council, eco and healthy schools committees. The children requested a quiet place to read, away from the playground, but with clear instructions that it was environmentally friendly. The Book Nook is therefore made from sustainably sourced timber, efficiently insulated and heated, it has led lighting and all the furniture and fixings are recycled. Apple crates are used for shelves and even the stepping stones are made from recycled car tyres saved from landfill!. The children have been using the space exactly as we had all hoped and it is a beautiful space for them to read and relax. Please click here for more photos.

FORM 2 - Form 2 enjoyed a fantastic afternoon out and about in Maldon this week. As part of our science topic, living things and their habitats, we went for a walk to the Ware Pond to explore a local habitat. Some of us were lucky enough to spot a frog! On the way back, we went to Leeches Garden to explore another local habitat where we found lots of minibeasts.

COMMITTEE MORNING - Eco Schools, Healthy School and School Council met on Wednesday to discuss new initiatives they would like to take forward. Below are two initiatives from The Eco Schools.

Our first initiative is; The Book Swap. Children can bring into school an unlimited amount of books, they can then swap their books for ones they have not read. All books need to be brought into school by 22nd September in good condition. We felt this would help the environment by encouraging children to reuse items. Any left over books will be donated to charity.

Our second initiative is; Clothing Recycle Drive. If you and your children have any old clothing in good condition it can be brought into school by 23rd September. The clothing must be clean and dry. Please do not bring any underwear or swimwear. All clothing will be donated to The Mind charity shop in the town.

Thank you on behalf of Eco Schools, we look forward to receiving all your kind donations.

INTERNATIONAL DOT DAY - On Thursday, the school celebrated International Dot Day. This day stemmed from the book, 'The Dot', by Peter H. Reynolds. The School Council led an informative assembly. The children each took turns to read a page from the book and displayed excellent confidence and maturity. The school listened carefully and discussed the message of the story, which is to have the confidence to make your mark, be expressive, and create bravely. The children were all invited to create their own special dots using a range of materials and mediums. It was wonderful to see the whole school getting involved in International Dot Day and to see the fantastic art that they created. The School Council thought it would be an excellent idea to display the dots on a Floor Gallery in the Hall. We will share more details of when this can be viewed very soon.
